Naples, May 18, N. S.

ON the 15th ſailed from this Port to Palermo, the King's Frigate of War, to bring over hither a large Sum of Money belonging to the publick Revenues. The King and Queen continue at Portici.

Rome, May 22. The Detachment of 2000 Men, that eſcort the Baggage, Train of Field Artillery, and Invalids of the Spaniſh and Neapolitan Troops, have made an Halt at Viterbo, in Expectation of freſh Directions from M. de Gages. Tranſport Veſſels are hiring by the Spaniſh Agents and Conſuls along the Roman Coaſt, to carry Proviſions and Neceſſaries to the Spaniſh and Neapolitan Troops in the State of Genoa; for which Purpoſe large Quantities thereof have been purchaſed by the ſaid Agents.

Florence, May 25. On the 22d the Marqueſs Silva, the Spaniſh and Neapolitan Conſul at Leghorn, arrived here, to ſettle with the Regency the Paſſage through Tuſcany of the Invalids, and of the Eſcort of 2000 Men which M. de Gages left in the Eccleſiaſtical State, as likewiſe of ſome Parties of Troops that were diſperſed in the Romagna, to which it is thought ſome have been ſent from Naples, all which are to join the Army of M. de Gages; and the Field Artillery and Ammunition for the ſaid Army are to be embarked at Orbitello. The lateſt Accounts of the Spaniſh and Neapolitan Troops under M. de Gages's Command ſay, that they were arrived at St. Pier d'Arena, in the Neighbourhood of the City of Genoa, the Place of Rendezvous, and waited there to join thoſe of Don Phillip, who were in full March for that Purpoſe; that they ſuffered extremely in their March, and are in great Want of Proviſions. By the laſt Letters from Lombardy, Prince Lobcowitz was on his Departure for Germany, leaving the Command of the Army, during his Abſence, to General Schulemburg. The Auſtrian Troops were diſtributed at Firenzola, and at Borgo St. Donnino, at a ſmall Diſtance from Parma, for the Conveniency of Forrage.

{ Price Two-Pence. }

Stockholm, May 21, O. S. The Princeſs Royal who is at Droningholm, has lately been very much indiſpoſed, and the general Talk is, that her Royal Highneſs has had a ſecond Miſcarriage. Orders were ſent by the laſt Poſt to M. Carlſon, the Swediſh Miniſter at Conſtantinople, to return home, and it is ſaid that a Commiſſion will be appointed to examine into his Conduct. The Day before Yeſterday the Marquis de Laumary, the French Ambaſſadour at this Court, cauſed Te Deum to be ſung in his Chapel, and gave a grand Entertainment, on Occaſion of the unſucceſsful Attack made upon the French Intrenchments before Tournay upon the 11th Inſtant, N. S. by the Allied Army. Yeſterday his Swediſh Majeſty removed from hence to Carlsberg.

Mentz, June 6, N. S. An Expreſs arrived here this Day with Advice, that the French have abandoned Hoechſt and Floerſheim upon the Mayn, as well as the Caſtle of Konigſtein. The Bridge which they had at Floerſheim is brought down the Mayn, and they are now employed in towing it along the Rhine to be ſet up again at Rhin-Turkheim. M. de la Farre is marched towards Diepurg. The Orders and Counter-Orders given by the French Generals, their Marches and Counter-Marches render it very difficult to judge of their real Deſign. Marſhal Bathiani is ſtill confined by the Gout at Wurtzburg, but as the Attack is not violent, he hopes to be able to put himſelf at the Head of his Troops in a few Days. This Moment we have Advice, that the Prince of Conti's Baggage has repaſſed the Rhine at Oppenheim.

Dreſden, June 7, N. S. Laſt Night the Count de Noſtitz, the King's Aid de Camp, arrived here from the Army in Sileſia, with an Account, that there had been an Action upon the 4th, at Half an Hour after Two in the Morning, between the Pruſſians and the Allied Army near Strigau, which had turned out to the Diſadvantage of the latter. The Ground upon which the Battle was fought, would not permit the whole of the Allied Army to engage. The Right Wing, which was under the Command of Prince Charles, could not come up to the Aſſiſtance of the Left, againſt which the King of Pruſſia turn'd his whole Force, ſo that this laſt not being able to ſtand their Ground, the whole Army ſucceſſively was obliged to retire into the Defilés on the Side of Reichenau, which was performed in good Order. We had a great many Generals and other Officers, eſpecially of Horſe, killed and wounded. The Foot behaved well, but was obliged to give way to the ſuperior Force of the Enemy. The Park of Artillery was not come up. Some of the Field Pieces which the Regiments carried along with them, we were obliged to leave, on account of a Ditch which was in the Road. The greateſt Part of the wounded were brought off; and, at the Departure of the Count de Noſtitz, the whole Army was got together at Landſhut, where they were in ſuch a Poſition, as not to have any thing to fear from the Enemy, and to be eaſily ſupplied with every thing that was neceſſary out of Bohemia.

Dreſden, June 9, N. S. M. Cagnoni, the Pruſſian Reſident, departed from hence this Morning without taking Leave of the Court, having had Orders ſome time ſince, as he gave out, to behave in that Manner, when he ſhould be certainly informed that the Saxons were marched into the County of Glatz, or the Dutchy of Sileſia. M. Walter, the Saxon Reſident at Breſlau, has, by the King of Pruſſia's Orders, been obliged to leave his Reſidence in eight Hours Warning, and was conducted to Poland, not being permitted to come hither.

Dreſden, June 9, N. S. By Letters from Marſhal Traun's Army of the 3d Inſtant from Schrotzberg we have Advice, that they continue their March by Márckelſheim to Bocksberg, intending to arrive there upon the 7th; and that the French had made two or three Bridges over the Neckar near Wimpfen, where their Avant Guard of 4000 Men had paſſed, but were driven back by the Auſtrian Huſſars, who made two Officers and 40 private Soldiers Priſoners. They therefore took up their Bridges again, and march by Sinſheim and Viſloch to Ladenberg.

Berlin, June 8, N. S. Upon the 6th of this Month M. Wartenberg, Aid de Camp to the King of Pruſſia, arrived here from Sileſia, preceded by ſeventeen Poſtillions, ſounding their Horns, with an Account of a Battle which had been fought upon the 4th Inſtant, at Four o'Clock in the Morning, between the Pruſſian Army and the Allies, between Freyberg and Strigau. The Relation, as it was this Morning publiſh'd by Authority, is as follows.

Berlin, June 6, N. S. The Combined Army of Auſtrians and Saxons, to above the Number of 80,000 Men, having, about the End of laſt Month, entred into Sileſia thro' the narrow Paſſages on the Side of Schemberg, Friedland and Landſhut, began, upon the 2d and 3d Inſtant, to form on the Side of Bolckenhayn, in the Plains towards Strigau and Jauer, when the King, who had been encamped with his Army at Jauernick on the 2d, quitted that Camp on the 3d, and attack'd the Enemy, whoſe Right Wing conſiſted of Auſtrians, and their Left of Saxons, upon the 4th, at Four o'Clock in the Morning, near Friedberg. The Battle laſted till Eleven o'Clock in the Morning, and the Horſe as well as Foot having performed Wonders, we gained the moſt compleat and ſignal Victory that has been known for this long Time, having taken 5000 of the Enemy Priſoners, amongſt whom are ſix Generals and 30 other Officers, 66 Pairs of Colours, 10 Standards, eight Pair of Kettle Drums, and 40 Pieces of Cannon. The Auſtrians and Saxons left above 4000 Men killed and wounded upon the Field of Battle, and we purſued them above a League and half from the Field quite to the Mountains. Our Loſs amounts to 1200 killed and wounded. Lieutenant General Count Trouſches was killed by a Cannon Ball. The Colonels Maſſau and Schwerin, and the Lieutenant Colonels Bodenbrouk and Calbouz were dangerouſly wounded, and Lieutenant Colonel Berticou killed. The King, who commanded the Army, was every where, accompanied by the Princes his Brothers, in the hotteſt of the Fire. We ſhall not delay giving a more circumſtantial Account of this glorious Day in a very little Time.

Poſtſcript, Berlin, June 8, N. S.

The following are the Names of the General Officers taken Priſoners, killed, wounded, and dead of their Wounds.

The Grand Maſter of the Auſtrian Artillery, Baron Berlichingen, Priſoner and dangerouſly wounded.

The Grand Maſter of the Auſtrian Artillery, Thungen, dead of his Wounds.

The Lieutenant Feld Marſhal of the Auſtrians, François St. Ignon, Priſoner and wounded.

Major General Forgatſch of the Auſtrians, Priſoner.

Major General Schlickling of the Saxons, Priſoner.

We reckon amongſt the Enemy's Generals killed,

Major General Hohenhauſen of the Auſtrians.

Major General Beſtenboſtel of the Saxons, without mentioning Colonels and other Staff Officers.

We have juſt had a great Number of Officers ſent in Priſoners. There are already above 80.

The ſame Day a Huntſman arrived here with a Confirmation of the above Account. Yeſterday Morning Lieutenant Colonel Willick, Aid de Camp, arrived here with a Detail of the Action, which he delivered to the Queen Mother, and afterwards purſued his Journey to the French Army in Flanders.

Upon this Occaſion Te Deum was ſung here this Morning under a triple Diſcharge of the Artillery upon the Ramparts. Before this Battle, Orders had been ſent to the Reigning Prince of Deſſau to repair hither forthwith with all the Troops that had been intended for the Encampment at Magdebourg, but upon the 6th a Courier paſſed thro' this City with Orders to him to countermand his March.

Hambourg, June 9, N. S. Though many ſuſpicious Symptoms of the Mortality among the Cattle, continue to approach this City, and the Parts adjacent to it, the Magiſtrates are ſtill in
